Rescue mission thrift store fort wayne

(Heather Starr/WOVO News) Fort Wayne, IN (WOVO): A brand new building takes shape on the corner of Washington Boulevard and Lafayette Street downtown, and this one is long gone. It's the replacement for Fort Wayne Rescue Mission's chief development officer, Lori Brumbeau, telling WOWO News that the current facility has been completely sneezed on, from the toilet to the meal service and even on sleeping places. The rescue mission should use the chapel for large meals, like the last Thanksgiving dinner, which is their biggest this year. People often have to wait outside in the elements to get one of the 217,000 meals the rescue party provides each year. The rescue mission serves about 1,400 people each year, but according to Brumbeau there are about 3,000-3,500 homeless people in Fort Wayne. With the existing facility, they have men who need to sleep in the chapel, and she even has one man who sleeps every night outside her office door. The new rescue mission, which is a four-story, $23.1 million building, will eliminate all the logistical challenges they face today. They will have a dining room big enough to accommodate everyday meals as well as larger, holiday events. New residences will include 317 beds, which will eliminate beds and temporary accommodation. In addition, new medical, professional and mental services facilities will be part of the new mission. According to Brumbeau, the rescue mission can always use help for volunteers - especially at the Treasury, which is a tweed-hand shop that supports the operation and provides the items residents need. The task also saves a donation list for those who wish to donate a monetary or item. The new rescue mission is the operation's flagship facility and joins The Recovery House, Charis House and Life House. The Fort Wayne Rescue Mission was founded in 1903 and is used by Fort Wayne and Allen County, as well as nine surrounding counties -- and they don't receive federal funding. Brumbeau says construction on the new rescue mission building is expected to be complete by mid-summer 2020 with a ribbon clipping set for September 8. You can find more information about the Fort Wayne Rescue Mission, including volunteer opportunities and donation here. Greg*, a man who had just been evacuated from the motel where he lived, was sitting with a rescue mission crew member, looking for a place to stay. After agreeing to follow rescue mission guidelines during his stay, he asked: Can I have some clean clothes, please? I've been in the same clothes for two weeks. The crew rushed to help Greg get what he needed for the night, but their generosity isn't under arrest there. I'll give you a voucher for the Treasury. I told him one of our crew members. You can choose four pairs of pants, four shirts, some shoes, and a belt. It'll start. While Greg was also talking about The life coach he used to work with, the meals he'd get, and the potential to get into the program, he seemed grateful for the clothes. Not only that, but the fact that he'll be able to buy what he wants in the store, not just considering a pile of clothes. Respect begins to be restored by giving people the opportunity to buy what they want. The Treasury isn't just a t-hand shop. When you donate to the Treasury, you donate to the rescue office. You're helping men, women and children in our community dealing with a homeless crisis. Treasury vouchers are also given to men and women who recently completed a rescue mission program. The couch and chair you're donating to the Treasury may soon be in the first house anyone had. The importance of the Treasury doesn't stop there. Men and women receive vocational training at the Treasury, giving them experience putting on a resume. And of course, Treasure House is a great place to get a deal on new gently used clothes, home accessories, furniture, and more. Your purchases support life-changing programs at Mission. Thank you for choosing Treasury House as your favorite donation location! You can rest assured that your donation is well used, right here in Fort Wayne. * The name has been changed. Check us out on Facebook! Treasure T-hand Shop is a great place to get a deal on gently used clothes, home accessories and furniture. But as the office of the rescue mission, the Treasury does a lot more. The Treasury raises money, creates training opportunities, and provides clothes and goods to help people overcome homelessness. By donating to the Treasury, you are helping us change lives -- right here at home. The Treasury is temporarily closed. Our employees are sorely needed to help the homeless population at Fort Wayne's only warming center. We anticipate closing at least until the end of the year. We'll update it as we have information. Great news! You can still shop online at our eBay store.
